

The world's largest foreign exchange specialist chooses Outpost24's OUTSCAN

Travelex was looking for a flexible, easy-to-use vulnerability assessment and management solution that could scan their networks effectively and produce reports that fulfilled the needs of both management, as well as technical staff.

PREVIOUS SOLUTION

Travelex had already been using a vulnerability solution to scan their networks, but found that the solution was difficult to use and that the reports it generated were too complicated. At the same time, Travelex acquired a financial company in a different region and found that the company was currently using Outpost24's OUTSCAN solution and was very happy with the results they had been getting.

Travelex was soon set up with a trial OUTSCAN account, and was able to run scans and try out the new product before they made a decision. After looking over the reports OUTSCAN had generated, and discussing the benefits provided, Travelex had found the flexible, easy-to-use solution they were looking for.

RESULTS/BENEFITS

One of the key benefits of OUTSCAN is that it can be immediately deployed and requires no installation or maintenance. Additionally, unlike manual testing, OUTSCAN can perform scans more frequently, which is important since vulnerabilities are discovered every day.

“I am surprised and impressed with the level of technical capabilities by the support staff. I've got to say that it's reassuring to us that we've got the technical expertise there to back us up if we need anything.”

Chris Fereday,
Senior Network Analyst.

The reports generated by OUTSCAN rate the vulnerabilities by severity and provide a suggested remedy. Chris Fereday, Senior Network Analyst stated,
“The advantage for us is that the format of the reports has always been simple. Management can read and understand the report charts, and the recommendations have been easy for the technical team to follow. OUTSCAN has definitely provided a great benefit.”

In addition to being easy-to-read, Travelex discovered that the OUTSCAN reports also had workflow tools to support delegation of identified vulnerabilities, and verification of successful remediation.

Another advantage that stood out to Travelex right away was the incredible support from the Outpost24 team.

With Outpost24, Travelex was able to find an indispensable tool for managing and reducing risk exposure in their IT networks, with superior technical support – and a great value for money.
